Red Cops' Bayonets Corner Czech Foes

PRAGUE, Feb. 24 (AP)—A score of Czechoslovak security police, armed with bayoneted rifles, entered the headquarters of the Social Democratic party late today. The move of the Communist-directed police was not immediately explained. The Communists are grasping for full control of Czechoslovakia.

About 10 riflemen remained in the offices of the National Socialist party, whose headquarters were seized and searched yesterday. Most of the party secretariat staff was back at work. The police said they were assigned as a defense guard. They said that similar guards were on duty at Communist party headquarters.

Trade unions staged a one-hour strike at noon as a token of their solidarity with the Communists.

PREDICTS REAL VICTORY
Communist Premier Klement Gottwald predicted victory for his party within hours, or days.

Students and professors, mainly of the opposing National Socialist groups, paraded through Prague shouting anti-Communist slogans in front of the Communist party headquarters. Police directed the traffic and did not attempt to interfere. Streetcars stopped only five minutes during the strike.

Until noon, Gottwald had not appeared at President Eduard Benes' office. The President has maintained consistently he could accept nothing but a coalition government. The crisis arose Friday night when the 12 non-Communist members of the cabinet resigned. Benes, however, has not accepted the resignations.

A hint of Gottwald's proposed new government was given in the makeup of the Prague "Action Committee," formed last night.

REPORTED CHOICES

It listed Alois Petr, deputy chairman of Parliament, and the Rev. Josef Plojhart, a Catholic priest and member of Parliament, as representing the Catholic People's party. Former Premier Zdenek Fierlinger, a left-wing Social Democrat, and Dr. Oldrich John, chairman of the constitutional committee of Parliament, were listed as Social Democrat members.

Some quarters said they believed Gottwald was ready to present a new cabinet list to Benes with these names and with three National Socialists, considered dissidents in their own party, along with the names of four representatives of the National Farm, Labor, Resistance and Youth groups.

12 Jailed by Tito Minions In Alleged Poison Plot

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Feb. 24 (AP)—Dr. Toma Jancikovic, former deputy of the Croatian Peasant party, was sentenced to 10 years at forced labor on charges of plotting mass poisoning of Premier-Marshall Tito's authorities. Eleven other defendants in the trial at Zagreb were given lesser sentences.

The charges were considered a new attempt to break up the Peasant bloc movement.

Pet Torture Foes Throng Hearing

Gardner Auditorium was filled to capacity with pet lovers from all parts of the state today, long before the opening of a hearing by the legal affairs committee on the Nolen-Miles bill, which proposes to ship stray dogs and cats to laboratories for vivisection.

SEN. EDWARD ROWE
Deluged by Protest Letters

Sen. Ralph Lerche Rep. David Cleary

Every seat was taken and many were standing in the aisles and thronging the corridors outside as members of the committee filed in for the start of the hearing on the measure which has unleashed a storm of protest from all walks of life.

Women predominated in the auditorium throng. Many of them were accompanied by their sons and daughters, who are on vacation from school this week and anxious to add their young voices to the wave of indignation against the proposal.

Several of the youngsters managed to smuggle their own pets into the auditorium with them to present them as mute evidence of their opposition to the measure, which would require stray dogs and cats to be given over to experimentation and vivisection unless their owners could locate and claim them within six days.

Among these youngsters were 9-year-old John Daly, of Green st., Jamaica Plain, with his 2-year-old German Shepherd "Sheppie," Margaret Crowley, 14, of Calder pl., Jamaica Plain, and her fox terrier, "Cookie," and John Theobald, 13, of Alford st., Jamaica Plain, with his pet "Spot," a mixture of Collie and Spitz.

Many legislators who have lined up against the proposal were among the early arrivals.

100,000 SIGN PETITION

Among them was Rep. Richard A. Kelly, of South Boston, who bore a sheaf of petitions opposing the bill, signed by Boy Scouts and residents of his district. Another was Rep. Joseph A. Sylvia, of Oak Bluff, who had petitions signed by hundreds of his constituents.

These and other petitions, bearing the names of more than 100,000 men, women and children voicing protests against the bill, were laid before the committee as the hearing opened.

Heading the opposition against the bill as the hearing opened were spokesmen for the Animal Rescue League, the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the Massachusetts Humane Societies, the New England Anti-Vivisection Society of America.

OPPOSITION LETTERS

More than 50,000 letters, bearing from five to 1000 signatures in opposition to the Nolen-Miles Bill, have been received by the individual legislators.

Sen. Charles G. Miles, no relation to Rep. Sherman Miles who is a co-sponsor of the bill, told the Boston American he has received

House Turns To Stop-Gap Rent Curb Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—A vote on the stopgap extension of rent controls for one month beyond next Sunday comes up in the House today.

Passage of the bill seems sure. In the Senate there was talk of a night session to complete action on a measure to continue the rent law 14 months with some changes.

In any event, Senate Republican leaders already have agreed to go along with the House on a 30-day temporary extension. The Senate plans to push through its long-term measure, then vote later in the week on the one-month version. Next month the House will turn to the Senate bill.

House balloting on its short-term bill was set at even before President Truman appealed yesterday for at least 14-month extension and strengthening of the rent law.

Rep. Rayburn, the House minority leader, told reporters Democrats would support the short-term bill with the understanding there will be action next month on a longer extension.

In that connection, Chairman Wolcott (R.) of Michigan of the House banking committee said:

"Congress will pass a law next month continuing rent controls in some form for at least a year. I can't guess now just what the terms of that bill will be."

Solon Pledges To Study New Profits Tax

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—A proposal by Sen. O'Mahoney (D.) of Wyoming to revive the wartime excess profits tax, because of the steel price boost, won Democratic support today.

Sen. Millikin (R.) of Colorado, chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, promised "careful study" of the idea.

O'Mahoney termed the steel increase an "indefensible action." He said it invites Congress "to declare the steel industry a public utility."

The Wyoming senator announced he will try to have Congress restore the excess profits tax by offering an amendment to the bill to cut individual income taxes.

The Rev. Morris Robinson, chairman of the Board of Education, immediately ordered notice by radio to parents the schools would not open and told them to keep their children at home.

The striking teachers are demanding salary increases from their present scales of $2000-$4000 to $3000-$6000. Only 1100 of Minneapolis 22000 school teachers are affected by the strike. The remaining 1100 teachers are not affiliated with the two striking unions, Mens' Local 238 and Women's Local 59 of the AFL American Federation of Teachers.

Affected by the strike are 70 elementary schools, 11 junior high schools and 11 senior high schools.

Salem Radar Expert Dies In Train Fall

Joseph J. Knouse, 37, of Salem, a high level radar scientist and electronics engineer at a security-guarded South Boston plant filling contracts for the armed services, fell or plunged to his death while on a mysterious trip to Buffalo, it was disclosed today in Rome, N. Y., where he died in a hospital.

Knouse, who was a passenger on the Lake Shore Limited of the New York Central, bound from New York city to Buffalo last night, had been seen to leave his Pullman seat and so to the platform, shortly after the train left Rome.

He was found badly mangled beside the tracks three miles from Rome and died two hours later at Rome General Hospital without regaining consciousness.

Coroner Thomas A. Cox of that city told the Boston American the Salem man had suffered a fractured skull and New York State Police are conducting an investigation.

Knouse had been employed since Jan. 1 by the Stevens-Arnold Co., Inc., Elkins st., South Boston.

DUE AT WORK TODAY

He was scheduled to report for work this morning and members of the firm said they were at loss to understand why he had been on a westbound train last night.

Knouse was not on company business and had told no one at the plant he was going to Buffalo when he left work Friday night, they said.

It was also learned that in leaving the plant, where "hush-hush" electronics devices are made for the government, Knouse had to submit to "security measures" like everyone else. The nature of these was not revealed. It was stated merely that security police are employed there.

The Rome coroner said Knouse did not have a large sum of money with him and his pockets contained papers, only of a personal nature. Nothing indicative of his work was on his person.

Both arms, legs and his spine had been fractured, as well as his skull.

Cpl. Benjamin Butler of the State Police barracks at Oneida, N. Y., who identified the victim from cards and documents in his clothing, reported there was evidence that he had been struck by another train after falling from the crack Lake Shore Limited.

News of the tragedy was flashed by the New York State authorities to the Salem police and an officer was sent to the victim's home.

WIFE COLLAPSES

Knouse's wife, Yvonne, 28, collapsed on receiving the news. With her at the time was their young daughter, also named Yvonne.

Because of her condition, police have been unable to question her as to when Knouse left Salem and the purpose of his trip to Buffalo.

From State Police at Oneida, however, it was learned, after an investigation, that the electronics expert had purchased a ticket for

Meyers Trial Opens, First of Three Actions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The government called Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers to trial today on the first of three criminal charges.

Meyers was the No. 2 purchasing agent for the Army Air Force during the war.

He is accused in the present case of inducing a business associate to lie to Senate investigators about his financial deals.

Berliet H. Lamarr has pleaded guilty to charges that Meyers persuaded him to tell the Senate War Investigating Committee a false story last year. Lamarr later gave a different version and said it was the truth.

Employed recently as an attendant at a Dayton, O., filling station, Lamarr is due to be a principal witness against the 32-year-old retired general. Mrs. Lamarr, who has denied Meyers' claim that she once was his "girl friend," also is to testify.

The case grew out of testimony that Meyers obtained more than $150,000 profit from the Aviation Electric Co., a Dayton plane parts firm, while a leading purchaser for the AAF.

Rockefellers Ask 'Normal Life As Ordinary Married Couple'

Special to the Boston American

NEW YORK, Feb. 24—Mrs. Bobo Sears Rockefeller, the Cinderella bride of Winthrop Rockefeller, put it very simply. She said:

"I want to go back to obscurity and start leading a normal life."

And to this Rockefeller added, just as simply:

"We had a perfectly beautiful honeymoon, and now we want to settle down like two ordinary married people."

It was their first interview since arriving in New York from their Florida marriage and wedding trip and was given to two New York Journal-American reporters speaking over the house telephone to the Rockefeller 15-room duplex apartment on the 15th floor of 770 Park ave.

The Journal-American reporters, with a platoon of other reporters and photographers, had been standing in the cold outside the building. In this instance, cold stimulated the mental processes, for the two reporters went to a telegraph office in Madison ave., near 73d st., and sent to Rockefeller the following message:

"We know you don't want to be bothered, but couldn't you see two very cold reporters for just a few moments?"

(Signed) "Marjorie Farnsworth and Samuel Crowther." Miss Farnsworth and Crowther resumed battle stations, and a half-hour later the doorman came out and asked for them by name.

19 Billion a Year Arms Plan Called Vital Need of U. S.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (INS)—Weapons more terrible than the atomic bomb which "could destroy civilization on earth" make necessary an American five-year program of military preparedness costing ultimately almost nineteen billion dollars a year.

This is the conclusion reached after months of study by the Congressional Air Policy Board in a report nearing completion today for submission to the House and Senate.

The joint 10-member group warns that political war already rages over all the world and emphasizes that "sparks may be struck, even accidentally, that can easily flare into open warfare."

It adds significantly that "an atomic 'Pearl Harbor' could prove fatal" to the United States, while emphasizing that the war of the future would be much more terrible than World War II. On this point, the report states:

"Other and more terrible weapons have been developed, the employment of which in war is, to us, well-nigh unthinkable. Among these are radio-active dust, bacteria, biological poisons, and toxic gases.

"The effects of these weapons, if used, could destroy civilization as we know it."

The board, headed by Sen. Brewster, (R.) of Maine, recommends a five-year program (1949-53) including universal military training to make the United States strong.

The group has drawn up two proposals, known as "Plan A" and "Plan B" based on information furnished by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Under "Plan A" Army expenditures would be set at their present level of $3,120,000,000 annually; the Navy's expenditures would rise from $4,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000 annually by 1954; while the Air Force would increase its expenditures from about $3,000,000,000 to almost $8,000,000,000 by 1953.

"Plan A" envisages carrying out of the "air force group 70 program," with provision for 20,541 aircraft, plus the Navy program of 14,500 aircraft, or a total of 35,041 planes.

The Air Force, under this program, would consist of 400,000 enlisted men and officers. At present its strength is about 20 per cent below that.

PLAN B LACKS RESERVE

"Plan B" is the same program but without any provision for reserve aircraft. The board declares that "Plan B" would provide a force sufficient to withstand an initial blow intended to cripple the United States, perhaps a strong defense of the country, and effective retaliation, "but not a sustained offensive action."

On the other hand, it emphasizes, "Plan A" would provide "the initial strength necessary to mount, promptly and effectively, a continuing and successful air offensive against a major enemy."

SEN. GLEN H. TAYLOR AND HENRY A. WALLACE
After Idaho Solon Accepted Vice-Presidential Candidacy

Associated Press Wirephoto

'Dem. Party Left Me,' Says Taylor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Sen. Glen Taylor of Idaho has kissed the Democratic party goodbye to become No. 2 man on the Henry A. Wallace ticket.

"I am not leaving the Democratic party. It left me," Taylor told a radio audience. "Wall Street and the military have taken over."

All the major parties offer, he said, is a choice between "a Republican Tweedle Dum and a Democrat Tweedle Dummer."

Taylor said as far as he is concerned that leaves the third party as the place to fight for "the principles in which I believe."

"I'm in this to win," the 48-year-old Taylor told reporters at a news conference after his speech. "I have confidence and faith. I think I'll get to be Vice-President."

He agreed with Wallace that: "You've got to believe we can work with Russia—or give up hope and prepare for the end of the world."

"I believe Russia wants peace. She has plenty of territory and material. She doesn't want markets."

If Russia seems to be "trying to spread out," he said, it is because of "fear of the rest of the world." "It can come out swinging for the things in which I believe," he said, "without fear of stepping on the prejudices or privileges of some unsavory associate... no Pauls, no oil, no Wall Street, no generals, no privileged few."

In his home state of Idaho the Democrats had harsh words for Taylor. The Senator helped George Donart, Weiser attorney, win the 1946 Democratic nomination for the Senate. Last night Donart said:

"I'm glad to have their vote. I'd be glad to have the votes of bank robbers if I can get elected to do what I think is right."

Aussie Miss in Leap Year Bid To Wed Diaper Bill Sponsor

By JOHN W. ENGLISH

Not only do blondes go for baby talk: so do brunettes. Sen. Philip Griggs Bowker, Brookline bachelor, sponsor of a bill in the Legislature to permit delivery of diapers on Sundays, has received another leap-year marriage proposal, this time from a brunette in Sydney, Australia.

The gal in question is Ann B. Nugent, who included with her letter a clipping from a Sydney newspaper, reproducing a story which appeared in the Boston American.

Previously, Senator Bowker, who is 49, had received a dozen letters from American women, all blondes, proposing marriage. They all wrote they thought he would be a good husband in view of his interest in Sunday dummies for little folks.

In her letter to Bowker, Miss Nugent wrote:

"It would seem from the enclosed clipping that the blondes have got in before me, but I'm the type of gal who dies fighting (say, who wants to die? I want to live).

"Besides, dear Philip, there's an old saying that 'gentlemen prefer blondes, but marry brunettes.'

"You can see from my enclosed picture that I am a decided brunette. Decided, did I say?—and in more ways than one, and I've decided dear, kind, Mr. Bowker, to ask you to marry me.

"Gosh, when that is written in black and white it looks kind of grim. I am direct in my manner of speech, truthful and sincere. Take a good look at my picture. Not bad, eh?

"And I can cook, too, dear Philip.

LIFE BEING WASTED

"I feel that my life is being wasted. Everyone should have comradeship to be a normal, happy person. Don't you agree with me?"

According to the newspaper story which was reproduced here you are a bachelor, but if the blondes have any say, you won't be neglected. I am a natural beauty, 37 years of age.

"I presume you are meticulous in your dress (but not dandyish). I hope you are not too devilishly dark and handsome. I presume your hair is gray and that you are fairly bulky (Editor's note—Phil is on the stout side). I hope you are kind, thoughtful and well educated. Am I right?

"Oh, yes, I hope you are financially secure. Just enough at least for us to be comfortable. I am five feet six inches tall and get along well with most people so I'd be an asset in your work as a senator.

CABLE OR WRITE

"Now Philip, my long suffering bachelor, suffer no more; get in touch with me by cable or write me as soon as you receive this letter and prove to me in no uncertain terms that the spirit of adventure still flows strongly in your veins. I do hope you will receive this letter before you've let those blondes or redheads get their own way.

"Anyway, may I wish you the compliments of 1948 and may you continue to do good work for the babies. I beg of you keep those blondes at bay and just give me a fighting chance—that is all I ask."

The bill to permit Sunday delivery of diapers in Massachusetts comes up in the Senate for action today. In addition to Sen. Bowker, two other bachelor Senators will be in there pitching for the little folks. They are Charles Olson of Ashland and Chet Doiau of Jamaica Plain.

Co-Ed Begins Sanity Test in Baby Killing

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 24 (INS)—University of Illinois co-ed who told Champaign County officers she strangled her new-born baby with a silk stocking is undergoing a psychiatric examination in a guarded hospital room.

Sheriff Joseph Clancy said the girl is Muriel Ostrowsky, 19, a pre-law student from Lawrence, N. Y. She is being held without charge.

Her parents were reported flying from New York to her side.

State's attorney John Breese quoted the girl as saying the father of the baby is a University of Illinois student from Chicago.

Sheriff Clancy said that Mrs. Florence Tillison, boarding house-keeper where Miss Ostrowsky resided, reported the boy was born last Friday.

Roommates told authorities the girl locked them out while she gave birth to the infant unaided.

Miss Ostrowsky, calm and unruffled, told of the events before the birth. She walked out of a 2 p. m. class when she became ill, went to her room and gave birth to the child.

She said she was unaware whether the child was dead or alive when born, but that "I strangled him as a precaution."

The landlady insisted the girl go to a hospital. Police found the baby's body, a silk stocking wound around his neck, in a laundry bag hanging in a clothes closet.

The officer said apparently Miss Ostrowsky has not realized the import of the affair, wanting principally to protect her family and campus living quarters from scandal.

CHARRED BEDS AND CRIB IN GREGG HOME WHERE YOUNGSTERS DIED OF SUFFOCATION
Entire Family Perished as Flames Swept Brewster St., Cambridge Home

Fire Fatal to Six Mystifies State, Cambridge Officials

State and Cambridge fire authorities today sought the cause of the city's most disastrous fire in 33 years—a blaze in which socially prominent Mr. and Mrs. H. Alan Gregg, Jr., and their four children perished in their Brewster st., Cambridge home.

The officials, mystified after 12 hours of investigation, could say only that the 14-room home had burned "like a blow torch." Probing the fire are Lt. Sylvester Mead of the State fire marshal's office; State Police Chief Inspector Daniel A. Murphy and Cambridge Fire Chief John A. Collins.

MAID ESCAPED

Only one member of the household escaped, and she was seriously injured. She is Edna Roper, 29, of Glace Bay, N. S., a maid, who leaped or fell from her third floor room into a frozen snow bank. She suffered a broken back and is in critical condition at Cambridge City Hospital.

The victims, an entire family, were Gregg, 37, a manufacturer; his wife, Ann Ten Brock Gregg, 35; Susan, 9; Harry Alan, II, 8; Peter, 3, and Thomas, 10 months.

Top hero of the blaze was Deputy Fire Chief Henry E. Kilfoyle, father of three children and a veteran of 28 years of service.

BROUGHT OUT 3 CHILDREN

Kilfoyle, one of the first on the scene, dashed into the flames-swept building after breaking down the front door. He soon emerged with two youngsters, one under each arm.

He rushed back and brought out another. Later, he commented that her employers and the children she cared for had lost their lives.

"It seemed as if they were dolls. They were so soft."

Brother officers restrained him from further rescue attempts until water had been thrown into the dwelling and the flames controlled.

LEAVING FOR FLORIDA

Kilfoyle arrived at the scene in a police ambulance driven by Patrolman Patrick Shea. The latter commented:

"I never saw such a man with so much guts. He was magnificent."

Another hero was Rev. Thomas J. Tierney of Blessed Sacrament Church, who entered the house repeatedly until felled by fumes and smoke.

Investigators thus far have determined only that the fire must have started at 2:35 a. m. Electric clocks were stopped at that time. The first alarm was sounded at 2:43 and the whole rear of the house was sheathed in flame when the first apparatus arrived.

Ironically, the entire Gregg family had planned to leave for Florida today.

Miss Roper, sole survivor, was unaware at the hospital today that her employers and the children she cared for had lost their lives.

"I was awakened by funny noises," she said today.

"I was frightened and then I got the smell of smoke. I tried to snap on the light but it wouldn't work. I ran into a small hallway and tried to get downstairs but clouds of smoke were pouring up and drove me back into my room."

"Then I opened my window to try and get some fresh air. I kept screaming and then I got panicky. I don't know whether I fell or jumped. It was that bad."

"They said they found me lying in the snow. I don't remember anything until I came to at the hospital."

Somerville Police Head Still on Danger List

The name of Somerville Police Chief Augustus F. Sharry was still on the danger list at Somerville Hospital today, three days after an emergency operation for a stomach ailment.

Sharry, 55, veteran of 30 years with the force, was named chief in September, 1946. His present illness is believed partly due to overwork.

ROSELLA GARDNER, E. D.
27 TEMPLE PLAZA, RA 6-7080
TEACHER OF ELECTROLYSIS

Prison parolee, of Concord ave., Cambridge, was looked for by Cambridge police today after sending out an eight-state teletype alarm for his capture.

The arrest of Voutiritsa, according to Det. Capt. Patrick R. Ready, who holds a warrant charging the fugitive with armed robbery and assault, will close the police search for principals in the holdup.

The sixth alleged principal arrested in the case, James H. Croft, alias James H. Weeks, 51, of Commonwealth ave., Back Bay, pleaded not guilty in East Cambridge court today to a charge of armed robbery.

Judge Arthur P. Stone ordered him held in $50,000 double surety, the same bail which had been set previously in cases of other defendants. The case was continued to March 4.

Croft was trapped Sunday while seated in an auto in Wellesley. Voutiritsa escaped a similar auto trap in Cambridge last week. He is believed to be using a tan convertible coupe in which he made his escape. He is an ex-Army paratrooper, and police warned he is armed and dangerous.

In 1931 he and two accomplices were sentenced to 15 to 25 years for several gas station and store robberies in Cambridge, Watertown and Brighton. He was paroled in 1941 after serving 10 years.

Phone Call Foils Suicide Attempt

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (AP)—Det. Harry Martin said Mrs. Helen Rolfsen, 35, was found dazed only a few minutes after her mother in St. Louis reported via telephone that she had attempted to take her life.

Martin said Mrs. Rolfsen answered the doorbell summons of two policemen, but was obviously in a dazed condition.

Removed to county hospital, she was found suffering from an overdose of sleeping pills. The hospital reported she will recover. Martin said Mrs. Rolfsen told him she is separated from her husband, with whom their two daughters live.

4 Children, Maid Victims of Flames

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Feb. 24 (AP)—Four children and a 65-year-old housekeeper died early today when fire swept a two-story wooden house 10 miles from here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hack, 30, mother of the children, was burned seriously about the arms, hands, back and face.

State Police listed the victims as Janice Hack, 5; her brothers, Amos, 8; Richard, 6; and Ronald, 4; and Mrs. Elizabeth Center.

Vernon Dunkley, 10, a son of Mrs. Hack by a previous marriage, jumped from the second floor. He was uninjured.

Irate Democrat Announces Own Slate of Delegates

WORCESTER, Feb. 24—Disgusted with what he termed the "ridiculous action" of Boston Democrats who have "too long dominated the party," F. Stanhope Mikels, selectman and merchant of Hardwick, today announced his own slate of Third Congressional District delegates to the Democratic national convention.

Mikels and J. Ralph Rocheford of Palmer are the delegates, with Peter J. Raznikiewicz of Ware and Anthony L. Salvadore of Barre as alternates.

Cahill Asks Writ On Dem Delegates

Petition for a writ of mandamus was sought in Superior Court today by Chairman John F. Cahill of the Democratic State Committee, seeking to compel State Secretary Frederic W. Cook to print ballots containing only the names of the 72 delegates and 72 alternates to the Democratic national convention proposed by his committee.

Judge Frank J. Donahue, himself a former state committee chairman, issued an order of notice, returnable tomorrow. At that time a hearing will be held to determine whether Secretary Cook will certify Cahill's slate or one proposed by Edward P. Gilgun, secretary of the state committee.

McGrath Fails to Ease Ire Of Southern Governors

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—The civil rights war within Democratic ranks raged unabated today, fired by a new attack of Southern governors on the party's high command. Four Dixie governors, fresh from a meeting with National Chairman J. Howard McGrath, promised to use "whatever means are necessary" to block President Truman's race equality program.

As a clear indication of what they have in mind, the four declared in a formal statement: "The southern states are aroused, and the present leadership of the Democratic party will soon realize that the South is no longer 'in the bag.'"

SEES SOME HEADWAY
Despite this blast, McGrath appeared to feel he had made some headway against the southland revolt.

He told a news conference he gained the impression that the meeting "resulted in good understanding." He added that he hopes it will "lessen the split in the party."

During the get-together, McGrath said he, for one, appreciates the south's loyalty to the party.

"I don't take the attitude they are with us anyway," he told Govs. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, Ben T. Laney of Arkansas, Beauford Jester of Texas and R. Gregg Cherry of North Carolina.

But McGrath said flatly he will not try to have the President's civil right program withdrawn from Congress as the governors demanded.

Nor will he agree to return to the two-thirds convention rule under which the South once held a veto over presidential candidates, McGrath did say, for instance, that it is the farthest thing from the President's mind to set up an FBI police force to go poking around into southern race segregation.

Bob Topping Flies to Lana After Divorce Parley in N. Y.

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24 — Bob Topping, who went to New York to consult his lawyers about his divorce from Arline Judge, flew back to Hollywood and Lana Turner today.

The suit comes up in Connecticut March 26.

Topping, one of the heirs to the cigarette fortune and a fabulously wealthy man, is said to be willing to make a down payment of $50,000 but he wishes to stagger the rest of the payments over a period of 12 months. Miss Judge, who has a penchant for marrying and divorcing, should marry again the alimony would, of course, automatically cease. She is reported asking for more than $250,000.

Arline was once married to Dan Topping, Bob's brother.

If the case should go to court it will be very bitter, but one thing Arline will not be able to give to Lana Turner when Bob will marry when he is free, take up her happy (?) home. She was separated from Bob

Miss Judge was first married to Wesley Ruggles, by whom she has a son. She also has a son by Dan Topping. Her other husbands were Capt. Jack Adams of the British army and Vincent Morgan Ryan, advertising executive.

If the settlement is made and divorce obtained, Bob is expected to marry Lana.

to you on the house phone," he said.

The conversation follows:
ROCKEFELLER—Miss Farnsworth, I am sorry to keep you outside the way we have. We are not granting interviews, and I apologize for keeping you out in the cold.
MISS F.—Might I speak to Mrs. Rockefeller?

R.—Yes, she is standing right beside me and you may ask me the questions and I will tell you her answers.

MISS F.—How did Mrs. Rockefeller feel about the honeymoon, and what are her future plans?

R.—Mrs. Rockefeller says . . .
MISS F.—Is this a direct quote from Mrs. Rockefeller?

R.—Yes, Mrs. Rockefeller says, "My honeymoon was as delightful and happy as any girl's could possibly be. It was a very short one, I know, but I am anxious to settle down to normal existence."

MISS F.—Just what does she mean by that?

R.—She says, "I want to go back into obscurity and start leading a normal life. A normal life to me is being a wife and running my house properly."

MISS F.—Don't you plan to see anyone at all?

R.—Mrs. Rockefeller says, "Yes, we are going to entertain our friends and lead the life of a recently and happily married couple."

And now reporter Crowther took over:

C.—Do you expect to make New York your home?

R.—Yes, I don't expect to make any trips except as my work requires. I am just an ordinary employee of Socony-Vacuum and will go, naturally, where they send me . . . Everybody has been wonderful to both of us.

And then he added:
"We won't play any tricks on the press. We'll be downstairs in an hour and pose for pictures, but no interviews. In the meantime, why don't you go and get a cup of coffee?"

They did. Later the couple appeared in the lobby for a drive to Tarrytown to lunch with Rockefeller's brother, Lawrence, Mrs.

Rockefeller started to walk to the street.

"Wait, Bobo," said Rockefeller. "You'll run into a barrage of photographers—we'll face them together."

Miss F. asked to see Mrs. Rockefeller's rings. Her hand was trembling as she extended it, showing an engagement ring of an enormous square-cut diamond, a plain platinum wedding ring and a guard ring of baguette diamonds.

"I'm terribly frightened," she said, "especially in the tummy." She was hatless and wearing a black wool suit and black blouse, light tan stockings, medium heel black shoes, and carried a mink coat over her arm.

Rockefeller was wearing a brown tweed suit, gray tweed topcoat and gray felt hat. Someone asked him if he was going to let his wife work.

"She'll have enough work taking care of me," he said.

Judge Stands Pat on Blast At Reich War Crime Trials

WESTOVER AIRFORCE BASE, Feb. 24 (AP)—Judge Charles F. Wennerstrum today stood pat on his criticism of the German war crimes trials as failing to "attain objectivity aloof from vindictiveness" and offered to match his loyalty to the United States against that of a general who accused him of subversive lack.

Wennerstrum, a justice of the Iowa Supreme Court, arrived on a plane from Nuernberg, where he presided at the trial of 16 German commanders for war crimes including the killing of hostages.

Brig. Gen. Telford Taylor, chief American prosecutor in Germany, had charged the interview given by Wennerstrum just before leaving was "subversive of the interests and policies of the United States." Taking issue with Taylor's assertion that this interview would be "used by all the worst elements in Germany against the best,"

Judge Wennerstrum said that instead it "might be held as bringing the Germans to task as people do in a democracy."

Two justices who sat with Wennerstrum in Nuernberg accompanied him home, Edward F. Conner of the Nebraska Supreme Court and George J. Burke, general counsel for the University of Michigan.

They told newsmen they felt the opinion in the trial had been "well thought out" and the cases "tried fairly." They also agreed, the Wennerstrum-Taylor class.

The Iowa judge declared that he felt that the war crimes trials should be completed "in spite of shortcomings."

Wallace Hits Marshall Plan As Blueprint for Next War

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace said today that "Wall Street monopolists" have twisted the original Marshall Plan into an instrument for enslaving Europe. He implied that the present program will lead to war.

The Third Party presidential candidate described the European recovery plan as "a blueprint for war." At his own request, Wallace appeared before the House foreign affairs committee. His arguments were contained in an 11,000-word prepared statement.

The committee announced in advance that there would be no radio broadcast and that television and newspaper campaigns would be excluded. This brought a cry of "censorship" from Wallace supporters.

Wallace offered his own plan for aid to Europe, including these points.

Creation of a $50,000,000,000 reconstruction fund, a United Nations agency to administer the fund; parceling out the fund on priority basis to those nations that suffered most in the war, including those of eastern Europe; none of the money to buy military supplies or armaments, nor for war preparations; United Nations to establish a world food granary so the American farmer would be encouraged to produce to the limit, and the Ruhr industrial complex placed under supervision of the United States, Russia, Britain and France.

Snow Saves Cellars In Street Flood

A burst water main gushed tons of water down East Squantum st., North Quincy, early today. At its source, close to the intersection of East Squantum and Atlantic sts. the spout dug up the roadway as it rose in a six-foot gusher.

Pouring for nearly a mile on East Squantum st., the water was only held to the roadway by the iced-over snow piles which kept it from homes on either side.

While a tributary rushed on to Carleton st., the water finally gathered on the Wollaston Beach bldg., outside the gates of the Squamtum Naval Air Field. The main highway there was inundated for a distance of 200 yards.

Truman Nurses Sunburn As Yacht Heads for Cuba

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN, IN THE CARIBBEAN, Feb. 24 (AP)—President Truman, fighting a deep sunburn, relaxed today aboard his yacht, en route to Cuba and thence to Florida for a vacation.

He made up a three-day guest list for his trip to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands yesterday.

Dr. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, his physician, worked to relieve a facial sunburn picked up while driving around San Juan, St. Thomas and St. Croix.

There was no word concerning official reaction to the latest disorders in Palestine.

The President is en route to the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, where, after a brief inspection tomorrow, he will board his plane, the Sacred Cow, for a trip to the naval submarine base at Key West, Fla.

He expects to spend nine days in Cuba continuing work with pleasure. Members of his staff, including special counsel Clark M. Clifford, presidential assistant John R. Stegeman, Adm. William D. Leahy, and secretaries Matthew J. Connolly and William D. Fessett, are with him.

Chiang Mapping New War Strategy

NANKING, Feb. 24 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek is meditating in a mountain hideout, China's crisis—a crisis so acute that his naval commander declared the U. S. fleet must stand by to protect northern ports.

A government official explained: "The generalissimo thinks best when he is alone and undisturbed. Kuling offers a perfect opportunity for such meditations."

Chiang is conferring with some of his top military leaders on a new war strategy to defeat the Chinese Communists, whose upsurge has engulfed all but the heart of Manchuria.

Advices every one suffering from pains of Rheumatism—Arthritis—Sciatica—to try RUMAL

He says, "God Bless You for RUMAL."

Mrs. I. K. of Wilmington, Delaware, writes: "For years I have suffered with agonizing pains of Rheumatism. Nothing seemed to help much. Then a friend of mine recommended that I try a preparation called RUMAL. I was skeptical but I tried it and am happy to say that I got relief from the very first application. It's a godsend to have RUMAL in the house for when those awful pains strike, I'm prepared."

I don't care how long you have been suffering from rheumatic, arthritic, sciatic, neuralgic pains—I want you to try a remedy based on really good.

It must be good, for it has been blessed palliative relief to thousands of sufferers since 1915—over 30 years.

See the best part is that you don't risk any money in trying RUMAL—you can't—only pain by doing it.

RUMAL is a compound of 8 powerful ingredients widely known to the medical profession as fast pain relievers. You apply RUMAL as directed to the painful area. Does your feet aching, nothing warmth as the pains disappear fast.

French Tell Franc Repayment Plan

PARIS, Feb. 24 (INS) Premier Schuman's government announced today how repayment will be made for 5000-franc notes recalled late last month under sweeping French monetary reforms.

The finance ministry announcement was timed to squelch possible strong opposition to Schuman on the reimbursement issue in the National Assembly later today.

Today's statement assures those who handed in less than 75,000 francs that they will get their money back in bills of small denomination within a few days.

Holders of less than 200,000 francs in 5000-franc notes will be repaid by the end of April. Persons who handed in over that amount will have to wait until July and will be subject to close investigation as to its source.

Absolution Barred
To Reds in Milan

MILAN, Italy, Feb. 24 (AP)—The Archbishop of Milan has ordered diocesan priests to deprive Communists of absolution.

In a pastoral letter, Cardinal Schuster warned that a vote for Communism is "gravely sinful for all the faithful."

He called upon priests to combat Communism by the heavy, leftist parents of Milan, Italy's industrial capital, with all possible means.

Cardinal Schuster's order, applying to all "adherents to Communism," also forbade priests to allow Communist flags or emblems to be brought into Catholic churches.

Bishop Oxnam Hits Democracy's Fear

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Feb. 24 (AP) — Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam said in a Washington Day's speech that this nation needs "more faith in democracy and less fear of Communism."

Bishop Oxnam's appearance went off without incident. Roman Catholic clergymen had protested earlier that the bishop was "unpatriotic and unwelcome" to speak on a patriotic occasion.

However, Miss Jeanne St. John asked that no priests or demonstrators appear outside the meeting hall. Previously he had contended that Bishop Oxnam was an affiliate of organizations now being investigated as possible Communist fronts.

Advertisement How Deafened People Now Hear Clearly

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music and friendly companionship. Accepted by the American Medical Association's Council on Physical Therapy, this device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 22, 1450 West 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. Boy Held in Fatal Cowboy Game

Leominster, Feb. 24—What police described as a game of Cowboys and Indians in the woods near here Saturday ended tragically today with the funeral of one youth and the court arraignment of his companion on a manslaughter charge.

While funeral services were being held for Roland Chartier, 18, of Orange st., Fitchburg, in Immaculate Conception Church that city, Paul D. Walsh, 17, of Nashua st., Fitchburg, was ordered held in $5000 for the grand jury in Chartier's death. Walsh pleaded not guilty.

Police said the two boys and Roland's brother, Robert, 16, went target shooting in the woods. A game of Cowboys and Indians developed. Investigations reported Roland fell with a shotgun wound near the heart. The victim was pronounced dead at Burbank Hospital a short while later.

John Robert Gregg, Inventor of Shorthand System, Dies at 80

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (AP)—John Robert Gregg, 80, inventor of the shorthand system that bears his name, died yesterday. He was a former president of the National Arts Club.

A native of Rockport, northern Ireland, Gregg began experimenting with "speed writing" systems at the age of 10. In time he composed a shorthand alphabet of his own which subsequently was adapted to 13 languages.

Gregg came to this country in 1893, organized the Gregg Publishing Co. and began publication of his numerous shorthand textbooks. Including "The Gregg Shorthand Manual." He also established and edited The Gregg Writer, a monthly magazine.

Survivors include his widow,

Janet; a son, John R. Jr., and a daughter, Kate.

Your Side of the Marshall Plan

THE Foreign Relations Committee of the United States Senate has decided that THE FIRST TWELVE MONTHS of the Marshall Plan shall cost the American people $5,300,000,000.

That is approximately $37.06 for every man, woman and child in the country.

It is approximately $185.30, or $15.43 a month, for every adult, including those who are so poor that they pay no income taxes and those who try to subsist on meager pensions or Social Security allowances.

By and large, the Marshall Plan FOR THE FIRST YEAR ONLY will cost every American household upward of $200, not counting higher living costs due to shipments of our goods abroad and the consequent inflationary effect upon domestic prices.

The Foreign Relations Committee has tried to disguise the facts by some trick book-keeping.

It proposes to sequester $3,000,000,000 out of the Treasury surplus FOR THIS YEAR, which was intended for tax and debt reductions, and to pay PART of the Marshall Plan expenditures NEXT YEAR with this adventitious fund, still leaving a "balance" of $2,300,000,000 which will have to be provided out of next year's resources.

The people should not be fooled by specious legerdemain. The whole $5,300,000,000 which our Government is about to send away will be paid, not by the Government, but by the people themselves—some of it at the tax collector's window and the rest of it at the family grocery.

And this is only the beginning of a long drain and strain, for the Marshall Plan is a four or five-year proposition, to cost not less than SEVENTEEN BILLION DOLLARS, a sum which computes itself at $118.88 a person or nearly SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS for the average American family.

Do the American people WANT to give away, for purposes that have never been clearly explained, that much of their wages or savings?

And if they do, WHEN have they ever had a single chance to say so?

The obvious and inherent flaw in the Marshall Plan is that it may disrupt our own economy without accomplishing any of its supposed objectives.

The indisputable truth is that the so-called "plan" was concocted in the Socialist chancelleries of Europe and foisted upon the United States under false pretenses.

In the absence of any mandate to do otherwise, Congress should peremptorily reject the whole impracticable scheme.

URGENT RELIEF

IN VIEW of the fact that nearly all Massachusetts mayors have predicted substantial increases in their municipal tax rates for the current year, no member of the Legislature can afford any longer to ignore the urgent necessity of a State Community Property Tax Reduction law.

This law will reduce the Federal income taxes of Massachusetts residents more than $200 a minute, $12,000 an hour, $300,000 a day, $2,000,000 a week, $8,000,000 a month and $100,000,000 a year and will give them that much more money with which to combat inflation.

Actually, this State Community Property Tax Reduction law is the Legislature's ONLY PRIOR OPPORTUNITY to come to the people's relief in this critical period with butter priced at a dollar a pound and the cost of food, fuel and clothing hitting ever-higher levels.

The legislator who refuses to avail himself of this opportunity has not much regard for his constituents or concern for their plight.

Without a doubt, the State Community Property Tax Reduction law is the most important and beneficial protection which the Legislature can give the people.

In no other way can it accomplish a saving of $300,000 a day, $8,000,000 a month and $100,000,000 a year.

OUR HORSES- & WOMEN department experts are tireless in their efforts to be of assistance to those of our feminine subscribers seeking matrimonial mates. So much time and energy are devoted to trying to find where the husband-hunting grounds are happiest. In the course of this angle of their research, our experts have learned that, at this time, one of the best places for aachelorette to find a young husband is in Scotland. That is the only country in Europe where there are more men than women in the age group of 25 to 29. At the moment, however, our experts are unable to definitely state what kind of a husband the average Scotchman makes. All they can say at present is that as far as this type of spouse is concerned, they have had no complaints.

If Edith's idea goes over, and if I ever assemble such a bankroll, I will be able to have it in technicolor.

PLEASE NOTE: As previously noted here, it is claimed by hosiery manufacturers the reason stockings wear out too quickly is because women are not careful enough about getting a proper fit. Am now at-formed one hosiery company has stockings in 52 different leg patterns. For a buyer to get a proper fit and insure long wear, this outfit asks eight measurements be furnished as follows: 1. Usual hose size. 2. Shoe size and width. 3. Length. 4. Height. 5. Weight. 6. Ankle measure. 7. Calf measure (thicker part). 8. Thigh measure. Call this to the attention of your wife. The longer your matrimonial mate's hosiery wears the smaller the bite on your family budget for stocking expense. And now is certainly a time when all good men should keep in mind the ancient adage: "A penny saved is a penny earned." And as I said before, on the cents you save there is no income tax.

MONKEYS: Monkeys have a combination of race and intelligence that is not only interesting, but highly amusing. A former resident of India states the monkeys on his land delighted in throwing down the fruit from mango trees. But that they never threw any at human beings. Only at dogs. The reason for that being that the dogs could not throw the fruit back at them.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q Do identical twins have the same fingerprints? A—Neither similar nor identical twins, no matter how much alike they are otherwise, even have the same fingerprints. Q—Has there ever been a film based on Joseph Hergeshelmer's novel "Wild Oranges"? A—There was a silent film based on that novel. Was directed by King Vidor and produced in Florida. One of the best pictures I ever saw. Could stand a talking film revival.

BATHING SINGER: Sagine in the bathtub was once, and by a lawyer. That was Lucius Annaeus Seneca born 4 B.C. died A.D. 65. In one of his philosophical essays, Seneca said: "A man takes to have his exercise in the bathtub." It is extremely relaxing to me. At a time when the average span of life is 31, Seneca lived to be 60. Men who sit in the shower or bathtub are usually relaxed. And relaxation is a great aid to success.

HITLER'S YACHT: The Grille, once Adolf Hitler's private yacht, has been times as large as the Williamsburg, the yacht of the President of the United States. A 3600-ton vessel. It is 496 feet in length. Is now owned by George Arida, British millionaire, who paid $300,000 for it at an auction in which he bid against the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film company, Barbara Hutton, Mae West, and the King of Egypt. It has cost Arida $100,000 more for towing charges and retelling.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1949, by King Features Syndicate.

NO FAIR-MINDED bigot of the tolerance movement could ask me to submit to further imposition, indeed persecution, without the privilege of a little reaction.

As a youth, I knew others of my age who were forced-on to religion, both doctrine and the physical rigors of rod and ritual, and, therefore, upon escape from childhood's thrall, embraced heresy with a carnal joy.

One of them, a fugitive from an austere academy on the outskirts of Chicago, when last I saw him was living sedately and respectably in the sin of apostasy in Washington and teaching his children to regard the clergy as spiritual chiropodists, at best, and, on the average, no better than so many Caribbean voodoo gurus, selling boss-fix powder to tree-dwelling parishioners with thumbs on their feet.

The excesses which drove him to this horrible revenge I have often heard, God forgive me that I didn't hit him with a bottle, or, anyway, call a curse to put myself on record. But I drop a veil, indeed, an iron curtain.

I FIND MYSELF almost as sorely tried in another respect. I am not clearly aware how long it has been since I was allowed the privilege, nay the intellectual and constitutional right, to roll my own ideas and engage them on such topics as European and American politics, the relations of racial and religious minorities with the majorities, the wisdom and dignity of people and the patriotism of Charles A. Lindbergh, Gerald L. K. Smith, Burton K. Wheeler and the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin.

There is only one permissible stand on any of these subjects, and that is the stand of various religious groups, including some monstrous compromises between natural theological enemies, and a great roster of councils, alliances, federations and congresses.

That stand is preached on Sunday nights by our great modern Barmy, Ward Beecher, the Mosses, Winifred and Deacon and on other nights and at other times by a lot of men and women in the town hall and high school auditorium by a multitude of other evangelists.

They include, of course, Eleanor Roosevelt, Frank Sinatra, Harry S. Truman, William S. Gaudin, otherwise Marcellis, a certain Frank Kaudon, somehow known as Doctor, Louis Adame, Quentin Reynolds, Walter Feichtwanger of Hollywood, sometimes called Wanger, and Danny Kaye.

HENRY L. MENCKEN, a heretic but in some respects a rather worthwhile fellow, observed some time ago that the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith was, in his opinion, the greatest American orator of our time. My opinion of oratory is like my opinion of top-dancers and if I were left alone I should never desire to endure the gusts of the Rev. Smith.

Tell me that I can't hear him, however; lay it down to me that I may hear him only at risk of the wrath of neighbors and my curiosity becomes a fierce determination.

I have never met him, I do not know what he preaches. I have heard gossip, possibly slanderous, that he liked Hitler.

If this last be true, his crime was no worse and probably was more casual and less binding than the spiritual association between some other pundits of the established politico-social and racial faith and Joseph Stalin.

NEVERTHELESS, I have been put upon so long and so contemptuously that I am now driven to new counsel. I discover that I never did hear Lindbergh, though, that I know Smith only by the angry opinions of his enemies, surely no ground for condemnation, and that former Senator Wheeler was judged, tried, prosecuted and condemned by persons who were infuriated because they wanted this country to go to war against Hitler and Wheeler thought it wasn't necessary.

Wheeler is neither a crook nor a monster. He is an honest man and a better patriot and more courageous morally and physically—he comes from tough country in Montana—than those who lynched him to a signpost on our road to the second World War.

I took a more intelligent interest in Father Coughlin when he was active and my respect for him as a political and, even, a religious figure, was based on associations, actions and practices which were known to me.

Yet even in this case, I would take a review because I have a deep conviction that most of those who have damned all these men and many others are, themselves, worse. They have long had a monopoly not only of the means of expression but of the thinking of the people. By sheer power of sound and emotional clamor, these dissenters were driven out of the forum and stoned down the road.

Congress Ducking UMT, Says O'Neil

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 24 (AP)—Congress will try to shelve the universal military training bill, says James F. O'Neil, national American Legion commander. "To avoid alienating voters in the 1948 elections."

The Legion commander, speaking before 700 Iowa Legion members, urged them to join in immediate demands for action on the bill. O'Neil said the latest public opinion polls show Americans favor UMT by almost 3 to 1. He added:

"Universal military training would cost one and three-fourths billion dollars a year. Two wars have cost a total of $388,000,000,000. It is insurance against war at a low premium."

Anti-Depression Plan Told Bankers

Anti-inflation activity now will prevent depression, Joseph M. Dodge, president of the American Bankers Ass'n said today.

He spoke before New England bankers at a conference at the Parker House to plan a campaign against high prices and inflation. Dodge is president of a Detroit bank. He said:

"We must maintain sound assets and retain our liquidity and an adequate reserve of lending power to use when and where it is most needed. Today, every loan should be required to meet two tests. Instead of one, not merely the traditional test of whether the loan is good—but also a test as to whether the proceeds of the loan will be used to contribute to already existing inflationary pressures."

Ernie Pyle's Memory Honored by 3000 American Troops in Tokyo

TOKYO, Feb. 24 (AP)—The memory of Ernie Pyle, war correspondent killed in action beside the GI's he loved, was honored tonight on the second anniversary of the founding of the Ernie Pyle Theater. GI entertainment center, Lt. Brig. Gen. Paul B. Kelly, special officer addressing 3000 occupation personnel in the big theater, declared Pyle "knew more of the brutal facts of war than almost any soldier and he died in harness."
 "Pyle spent his time with GIs in fox holes where the going was toughest, and he wrote about them in such a way that he endeared himself equally to the people back home and to the GIs themselves."
 Pyle was killed by Japanese machinegun fire in the fight for Okinawa.
 The five-story Ernie Pyle theater is Tokyo's finest. It has two motion picture and auditoriums, a library visited by 6000 weekly, a popular snack bar drawing 25,000 a week, and other activities for occupation personnel.

Hospitals Cite Jump in Costs

Ward costs of the Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals have risen to more than $18 a day as compared to $14 a day in 1945. President Jerome P. Condon declared in his report to the incorporation of the merged hospitals in 1945. And again of the hospital.

Stressing the need for aid, he said to seek new sources of income, he suggested as possibilities: a 10 per cent increase in payment by private charities and payment of full costs by the government for patients for whom it assumed responsibility.

Preston and other officers were mentioned. They included George W. Treat, second vice president; Bailey Aldrich, secretary, and Louis J. Hunter, treasurer. Glenwood J. Stier and president of the Parker House, was elected to a vice position, succeeding Tabor Aldrich, who resigned recently after more than 40 years of service on the board.

Painting Revealed As Masterpiece

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 24 (AP)—A grimy painting at the Ringling Art Museum has been identified as a $50,000 early 17th century masterpiece.

The museum director, A. Everett Austin, Jr., said Julius H. Weitzner, New York collector had identified the painting as a long lost work by Peter Paul Rubens, the great Flemish master.

The original lines appeared only after an accumulation of centuries of varnish and dirt was removed, Austin said.

Austin said the painting was bought by the late John Ringling for about $5000 in 1927.

Horwitz Styles Junior Fashions With Senior Look

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

THE AMERICAN GIRL may be junior in size and age, but she is senior in talents, in fashion know-how and knowing what she wants to adorn her lithe, lovely young figure. No kid stuff for her. Nor femme fatale fads, either. On both these scores, she turns thumbs down. But she does want youthful-looking clothes with fashion "savvy" and trend chic... small-waisted, rounded shoulders, full skirt and adult hemline length. College is a "senior girl" . . . and now since too old, young matron or mother . . . she may be within the happy range of twenty, but her young and tender years do NOT call for but group ineffectuality in clothes. She'll take sophistication in youthful lines and adult fashion in what the fashion copy. She'll take them . . . she demands them!

How far not? asks Joseph Horwitz, who last year was one of the winners of the Fifth Annual American Fashion Critics' Awards. He had the correct fashion answer to the "why not" for the young American girl. Horwitz is president of Horwitz and Duberman, creators of the famed Judy 'n' Jill fashions.

Horwitz' articulate expression of the kind of fashion young American womanhood goes for in a big way . . . and you can see why from his pictured contribution on today's pages to the EASTER FASHION PARADE . . . is due to his far-sighted policy of hiring youngsters fresh out of colleges and fashion schools to assist him in creating top junior fashions. They have a wealth of talent and he lets them show him.

It is because his staff of young girls know what young girls want . . . since they themselves must want it first . . . that junior fashions suggest Horwitz and Duberman are subtle interpretations of grown-up fashion smartness encompassing all the accepted trends. Not over-baked, nor half-baked sophistication . . . but just enough youthful chic to make everybody happy in the junior contingent . . . whether the junior stands for age or size.

Tomorrow's Designer
CARRIE MUNN

THE YOUNG American girl I primarily design for is that clothes-conscious age group that turns thumbs down on anything that looks "little girl," that wants the same smart up-to-the-minute styles worn by her elders.

The ensemble I picked for her this Easter has just the kind and amount of sophistication a young girl likes. The fabric of the coat, faille, has grown-up "savoir-faire," but it is youthfully styled in a youthful color, navy. The modified hip padding and the diagonally buttoned closing will make her happy, too, and the groups of massed unpressed pleats, front and back, give a liting fullness. The accompanying dress is a navy and green printed crepe with a Peter Pan collar. It's an ensemble that's good for a junior miss' budget, since both coat and dress may be worn with other things in her wardrobe.

Note: If desired, omit croutons. Mix smooth paste, 2 tsp. flour and 1 tsp. water. Add to tomatoes after the 10 minute simmer. Cook until thickened.

A petticoat suit is almost a "must" in a young girl's scheme of things this spring. The one I prefer is also in youthful navy wool, with navy and white striped taffeta petticoat, roll collar, and cuffs. Add a bow of the taffeta to the off-the-face black straw hat, black pump, and white shortie gloves, to complete the ensemble.

Let's Eat

BY IDA BAILEY ALLEN

OF ALL the utensils in the taste-test kitchen, the Chef is proudest of the two pressure cookers, "a wonderful invention for the hurry-up Americans," as he remarked. And they are equally important for money-saving, especially in cutting down the meat bill by cooking tough meats tender. If more homemakers demand those "less demanded" cuts of meat, we'll soon have lower prices and better meat distribution.

"I would like to see all homemakers follow your advice," commanded the Chef, "because America is a country of the roasts, the steaks and the chops. If homemakers would buy more of the shank and the shin, the neck and shoulder, the brisket and the plate, the head and the tail they would get better value for their money. The only problem is to learn how to cook these cuts to make them tender and appetizing."

BEST METHODS

"Well, Chef, it's part of our job to give them the best methods we can work out." "In France we use every part and variety of meat. For example, there is our famous pot-au-feu, which is really soup meat carefully seasoned and simmered for hours in a kettle with the cover on tight, with vegetables added at the proper time. Then there are the ordinary cuts of veal or shank of beef, which we make into casseroles, and bake or stew very

Sew This; Save

By MARIAN MARTIN
Who is cutest? Your toddler in her fashionable new cape, bonnet, frock, and panties! Pattern 9258 is remarkable for sew-easiness too. That dress is cut in just ONE piece!

Pattern 9258: Toddler's sizes, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. Size 2 frock, 1½ yds. 35-in.; cape, 1½ yds. 39-in.; bonnet, ¾ yd.

Sent 25 cents in coins for this pattern to Boston Evening American, Pattern Dept., 232 West 18th st., New York 11.

NOW is the time to sew for spring! Fifteen cents more brings you the brand-new Marian Martin Pattern Book, cram-full of exciting spring fashions for everyone! Plus—a free pattern printed inside the book—two belts to give you the New Look. Better have this!

carefully. Of course this takes several hours. It is the old-fashioned way and it is still very good. But if you want to cook hurry up and make tough meat tender very quick you have that marvelous invention, the pressure cooker.

"Did you know, Chef, that more than 10,000,000 homemakers own pressure cookers today?"

"That is very progressive," nodded the Chef.

USED EVERY DAY

And it would be even more progressive if all the pressure cookers were used every day.

Many homemakers do not realize that pressure cookers can be used for many time-saving jobs, other than cooking vegetables or pot roasting meat. For instance, the meat pie with pastry crust, which is featured in our column today. This is made with shin or shank of beef; which needs at least 2½ hours simmering on top of the range, but which can be pressure cooked in 35 min. In fact, the whole meat pie can be completed in a little over an hour when the meat is pressured, a saving of more than two hours over the usual method. The everyday use of the pressure cooker can cut the cooking fuel bill of the average household about half—no small item in these days of rising cost of living.

JELLIED VEGETABLE SALAD SQUARES

Use mixed left-over cooked vegetables, or ½ cooked vegetables and ½ diced celery or chopped cabbage; or use 1 package defrosted frozen mixed vegetables, or 1 can mixed vegetables. In this last case the liquid in the can should make up part of the water used for making the gelatin.

To prepare: Make a basic sweet-sour gelatin; chill until slightly thickened. Then add 2 c. mixed vegetables. Transfer to a square or medium-sized oblong pan, first rinsed in cold water. Chill at least 4 hours or until firm enough to cut into squares for serving. Garnish with lettuce or chicory. Pour a little mayonnaise thinned with soured cream or chili sauce, over a corner of each square of salad.

BASIC SWEET-SOUR GELATIN: Soak 1 tsp. plain granulated gelatin in 2 tsp. cold water for 2 min. Then stir in 1½ c. boiling water or equal parts boiling water and vegetable liquid. Add ¼ c. cider or wine vinegar, ½ tsp. lemon juice, 3 tsp. sugar and ½ tsp. salt. Chill until beginning to thicken, and finish as directed.

MEAT PIE WITH PASTRY CRUST

Order 2½ lb. shin or shank of beef, the bone removed and cracked to use for soup stock. Place in a small kettle with 1 bay-leaf, 2 tsp. salt, 1 slice lemon, a few celery tops, and boiling water to half cover. Cover closely and simmer until tender about 2½ hr.; or pressure cook 35 min. at 15 lb. with only 1½ c. water.

Drain the meat; chill the broth, and skim off the fat. Chop the meat fine in a chopping bowl, or with a sharp knife. Do not put it through a food chopper. Stir into the meat 1½ lb. flour, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. pepper, 2 tsp. tomato paste, and 1½ c. meat broth. Transfer to an oiled square dish, 8x8 in. that can be sent to the table. Cover with plain pastry crust, bringing it down over the edges. Slash in the center in 3 places to allow the steam to escape.

Place in a hot oven, 400 F. for 8 min., then reduce the heat to 375 F. and bake 25 min. longer. Cut in squares for serving.

CARAMEL RICE PUDDING

In a small heavy frying pan caramelize ¼ c. granulated sugar until syrupy, that is, melt it over a slow heat. When golden brown, add ¼ c. boiling water. The syrup will harden. Cook slowly until it melts again. Then transfer to a double boiler; add 3 tsp. white rice, ¼ c. sugar, ¼ tsp. salt and 4 c. whole milk, or 1 tall can evaporated milk with 1 tall can water.

Cover and cook 1½ hr., stirring occasionally. Then add 1 tsp. vanilla and transfer to a buttered baking dish. Bake uncovered in a slow oven 325 F. until thick and light brown on top, from 1½ to 2 hr. longer. Serve warm or cold with top cream.

TRICK OF THE CHEF

For fine flavor, roll 1-3 c. fine-chopped onions sautéed in butter or vegetable fat, into the crust for meat pie.

Hostess' Favorite Recipe

By MARTHA LEE

MISS GRETCHEEN McMULLEN, president of the Business and Professional Women's Guild of Boston, is also a well-known food consultant. She has suggested this menu because she says it's easy on the budget as well as the taste.

The main dish is Scotch Beef Patties, which take but one pound of hamburger for four "man-size servings." With them, Miss McMullen serves tomato bouillon, broccoli with hot mayonnaise, buttered carrots, mashed potatoes and fresh grapefruit salad with raspberry cream and coffee for dessert.

SCOTCH BEEF PATTIES

1 lb. hamburger
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup undiluted evaporated milk
¼ cup rolled oats
Combine ingredients. Let stand 10 minutes. Shape into 4 large or 6 medium patties, each of even thickness. Don't press the patties but keep the meat light and loose for nicer eating. Cook in heavy frying pan over low heat to keep the juice in the meat. When done, place on hot platter. Add ¼ cup olive butter and ¾ cup water to the pan. Bring to boil and pour over Scotch Beef Patties.

Feather-light mashed potatoes are made with hot milk. Cold milk makes them soggy. Heat the mayonnaise over hot water for the broccoli. This will prevent its curdling.

Using undiluted evaporated milk with the rolled oats lets the protein in the milk supplement those in the cereal, and keeps the Scotch Beef Patties a better protein food than if you had extended the meat in one of the more common ways.

THIS being the year of short hair and the era when hair must shine on its own accord with all the natural radiance it can acquire or develop . . . a precision-made dandruff or accumulated dirt-removing metal comb, newly marketed, can prove to be a great help . . . especially to the snag-fighting cop-like hairdos. The pictured cut is one of the newest . . . and one of the most ultra of the short hair vogue.

Dandruff-Removing Metal Comb Keeps Hair Clean

TRY AS HARD as we might to keep the hair clean, in many instances there seems to be a residue film left on the scalp. Very often this adds up to a scaly deposit . . . and if left unchallenged becomes a dandruff condition.

Saves Fabric

A wonderfully new and different aid to healthy hair has just been introduced which the makers label "a dandruff-removing metal comb."

Guaranteed to last a lifetime, this scientifically-designed comb to clean the hair is three and a half times as fine as any fine comb and is excellent to keep hair clean between shampoos. It should be just as effective for men and children as for women . . . since clean, healthy hair is a universally-yearned-for thing of beauty.—R. M.

For the name of this precision-made, dandruff-removing metal comb, with a lifetime guarantee, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 2-4000, any day except Sunday, or write to Ruth Mugglebe, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Used Fats? YOU BET THEY'RE STILL NEEDED!

Lady, tie a string around your finger to remember your used fats are still needed to help ease the gas shortage of fats and oils in the world's history. Our government says this supply isn't near enough to meet the world's demand. (One way you can help preserve this supply from getting too low is by turning your used fats into cash.)

You say you have no more fat left after that 15 Stew. Well, about trying various tricks again, like making dyes, fat trimmings, shaving cream! You'll salvage almost!

Remember, too, no other kitchen waste can be turned into cash . . . and how cash counts in these days of high food costs. The prices butchers pay for used fats are way up, on the average. So don't throw your fats out . . . turn 'em in!

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1948, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

ONE OF THE PERMANENT EFFECTS of this past war is the accumulation of human beings into vast empires of population. World War I broke up empires into smaller states; this one brings peoples together. Soviet Russia (together with her puppet) is accumulating 263,000,000 or more; China has some 450,000,000; Hindustan and Pakistan some 400,000,000. The United States has about 140,000,000 people.

What will all this be 25 years from now? That may be very important then.

There are many ways of approaching population problems. Some object to increases of population because they hope to maintain a homogeneous population.

The American population in 1920, upon which the quota system was fixed, was 44.4 per cent of British origin (Great Britain); 13.3 per cent German; 11.4 per cent Irish; 4.1 per cent Polish and the remainder was made up of about all the peoples on the face of the earth. There is very little of homogeneity in all this.

EXPERTS on population predict that the increase in our population will not be as rapid as it has been. Beginning with 1950, they give us 145,000,000 but they do not expect us to have more than 163,000,000 by the year 2000.

I am not competent to judge the accuracy of these estimates. But if we accept them as correct, we shall not have the population in 1960 that the Eurasian peoples have already. That is something to think about in a world that involves empires of hundreds of millions of people.

Then arises the question as to whether this country is overpopulated and what it would take to overpopulate this country. Those who insist that this country is already overpopulated can be discarded as capable of no argument to make a point.

Here are the figures given by Thompson, "Population Problems" before the war:

"Persons per square mile of arable land—selected countries, 1937-39."

Country	Persons per square mile of arable land
Canada	121
Australia	137
United States	150
Spain	417
Sweden	445
France	524
New Zealand	537
British India	780
Greece	796
Italy	883
Germany	917
Java and Madura	1394
Belgium	2126

Switzerland	2153
Netherlands	2210
Great Britain	2421
Japan	3131

Compare Great Britain and the United States. Are we overpopulated? Compare countries of comparable standards of living, Sweden, Belgium, Switzerland, Netherlands, Great Britain with the United States. Great Britain has a population density nearly 10 times that of the United States.

THIS IS SOMETHING to study, not to make glib statements about. Once wrote about this, and one of those clever "yes" or "no" men said this was not an underpopulated country, but the assumption was apparently based on soil productivity about which so little is known, particularly as we approach the revolutionary methods of chemistry.

But this we do know: We shall have to defend ourselves some day and we shall have to know how to do it.

Can we do it without increasing our population? Is it to be assumed that we possess an intellectual superiority which gives us an advantage over other countries?

And if we have to increase our population, shall we do it by increasing births, by conquering and assimilating our neighbors, or by selective immigration? We need knowledge, wisdom and unprejudiced understanding to handle that problem.

MY HAT FRIDAY

(A Complete Short Story)
By FRANCES GEIGER ADAMS

IT IS PROBABLY my own fault. No other woman with even a gram of common sense would pick the moment just before going to bed when she is cold-creamed and nightgowned to plunk The Hat atop her curls and murmur:

"Look, darling, isn't it wonderful?"

But, for better or worse, I am the impulsive type, and that's my standard procedure for unveiling a new hat. I can't help it.

I don't suppose he can help it either that his standard comment is, "Holy cats!" Just that. Never anything kind.

His next sentence usually has Toss-of-the-Storm-Country implications which make me curl slightly at the edges, and by the time we finally go to bed, I have agreed, not quite docilely, to take the hat back first thing in the morning. Except the hat Erik whipped up expressly for me "to accent my gamyn personality." And I can say this, Erik had put his all into it.

While there is practically nothing in the world I would rather do than spend money, I had arrived at the conclusion that I could have bought five of my usual hats for the price of this little autographed collection.

The RIGHT HAT often does things for a woman. But just read what it did for this gal whose husband usually disapproved of her purchases.

But the mad hattery ritual always begins pleasantly enough. On my shopping days, we always meet in a cozy little cocktail lounge, and my man buys me Manhattans without bitters—for sentimental reasons.

I am usually the one who is late, and since to date, I have found no way of sticking a hatbox inconspicuously into a pocket, his opening comment is apt to be:

"Oh, you've bought a hat!" He may smile or not, depending on the state of the budget.

Then I begin to hedge, I am definitely in no mood to discuss my new hat. There's all ways time for trouble later (so I inquire sweetly into office going on, and I always breathe a quiet little prayer that there's a new account. New accounts, in case you haven't heard, are what keeps advertising men's wives in hats).

But new account or no, the Manhattans are always a huge success, and I feel better and better about life in general and the hat in particular.

"This is it," I am apt to say to myself. "A veiled excuse to wear flowers in my hair." I may also remember other of the salesgirl's frothier phrases, and that is usually when I have had enough Manhattans.

The train ride home is usually a little gruesome. My man would turn an ox charthouse with envy, he is that strong. He has been known to carry two suit boxes, four magazines, a newspaper, six library books and a hefty bag of groceries without either casualty or complaint. But he will not touch a hatbox.

THE LADY DIDN'T LIKE IT

So I stand on the suburban train, trying to keep the corner of the hatbox out of the matron's eye on my left. She is glittering in her best WCTU manner, and while I have nothing against the WCTU personally, I am certainly in no position to cope with her. And I try, too, to keep the hatbox out of the suburbanite's ribs on my right, although he looks as though he wouldn't either notice or care.

Dinner is a little trying, too, since I am not exactly a flash in the pantry after these orgies. Then there are the dishes and the mail and the paper, usually a phone call or two, and neighbors buzzing in to exchange suburbanilities. And the hat still nestles in its pristine wrappings, untried and unused.

The moment for trying it, inevitably then, comes as I am ready for bed, and that man is still splashing in the shower. I have given my hair its 200 licks, pinned it up again, and there is time to reassure myself on the hat.

I have just decided that it really is when I always laughingly call my profile when he emerges all damp and peaceful from the bathroom.

And that it when I always say, "Look, darling."

And that is when I always says, "Holy cats!" Also, he has on tap a ready supply of adjectives which are both hearty and explicit. I blame the Army for these, but that is small comfort when he is tossing them in the direction of my new hat.

And he tossed them, too, at Erik's creation, even though I had bought it in the interest of Us as a corporation. We were taking some prospective clients to dinner the next night.

"They're from Hollywood," he said casually.

"With the movies?" I squealed.

"He's advertising manager of one of the studios—we're trying to get some of their Midwest local promotions."

Whereupon I went into a talspin. Even in my innocence, I've heard enough about the Hollywood gift of garb to know that you can't entertain clients with a wife looking like the last act of Casey at the bat.

And that is what brought on Erik's hat. And that is why this session pulverized me so.

However, he has brought on these domestic crises entirely single-handed.

I used to be the kind of a person who could take a hat or leave it—and leave it of course, I did—in canoes and groceries and all sorts of unlikely places.

Then one day with my hair looking something less than topnotch I covered up with a little brown felt job strictly a hangover from college which looked jaunty in a very tired sort of way.

"That's a pretty hat," he said. We weren't married then.

"Thank you, kind sir," I said coyly. Then, as he began to look a little over-enthusiastic about it, I added, "It cost exactly $4.98 three years ago." I have now lived long enough to know that was a serious tactical error.

"I've never seen you in a hat before," he went on. "I like it. It makes you look so—so womanly."

It had never occurred to me that it hadn't occurred to him that I was a woman. So right then and there, I became a convert of hatism.

And happily enough, it convinced him of my femininity sufficiently for him to say would I, and I said I would and that was that. Except he still wants me to wear that hat—event after all this time.

"Wear the brown hat tonight," he is apt to mutter through his shaving cream as we are dressing for a night out.

"Wear the brown hat tonight," he called to me as we were dressing to take out Mr. and Mrs. Hollywood.

"Darling!" I said aghast. "No, I'm serious. You look especially pretty in that hat, and I like you in it. Fact of the matter is, I like you." And he gave me a spongy kiss on the back of my neck.

"Darling, I love you like mad, and I'll do anything in the world for you except wear that hat tonight. After all, they're from Hollywood—and I bought the new one just especially."

"So what's so special about Hollywood? They're probably just folksy people like us." Anybody who says we're folksy is, of course, batty as the attic of a haunted house, but that is beside the point.

"But darling, you've got to look prosperous. Like you have, but millions and millions of wonderful clients already. What would they think if they saw me in a hat eight years old that's seen more rain than Noah? It's good merchandising to wear the new one."

"All right then, since you put it that way, I'll let you wear it—but just tonight! And I'm not happy about it."

AN UNEXPECTED SUCCESS

So my hat and I swooshed into the lobby of the Hollywood hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Hollywood came down and we said "How do you do?" and they were completely gay and charming, thoroughly in keeping with my ideas of Hollywood. I'm sure my stardom was showing, I was that excited. And I actually belonged to this exotic group! Me and my hat!

"That's quite a hat!" Mr. Hollywood said with what I would describe loosely as great enthusiasm.

"I'm glad you like it," I said modestly.

"Do you mind telling me where you got it?"

"Why not at all. Erik made it up for me. He's supposed to be quite a genius. Matches your personality and things like that."

"I wonder if he'd be interested in going to Hollywood. We're looking for a designer with just such a sense of humor. A comedy routine picture—you know, a husband who never can stand his wife's ridiculous hats. Why, what's the matter? Have I said something?"

Well, we got the account, but I am now house-sitting in the little brown felt job. Erik went to Hollywood, and for all I care, he can stay there.

The nerve of him, telling me that lobster claws flopping around on the front of my hat would accent my gamyn personality.

56 Day With the Dogs: Visit to Kyoodle Kingdom

By AUSTEN LAKE

IN ALL MY PERUSAL of the catalog at the Mechanics Hall dog show or Kyoodle Kingdom, I have searched in vain for a single pup which looked especially happy for being glared at or would not welcome hearing me say, "Aw, let's ignore all this nonsense and come on home and see what we can find in the ice box."

But it seems improbable from the behavior of the dogs that anybody pokes for something in the icebox or let's 'em jump up on the bedspreas or otherwise contributes to such important pleasures in a dog's life. The dog exhibitors say that such freedoms are injurious to the dog's discipline, yet I have met some dogs personally which thrived very happily under this kind of treatment and I have the fondest memories of several which laughingly poked out their red flannel tongues when I called them and otherwise behaved in quite human fashion.

The Insect Dogs

I MUST ADMIT THAT MY acquaintance with blooded pooches is very limited and I have never owned one of man's best friends called, say Elvin Deal's Ch. Green Mead's Vindicator or Ch. Norrally by Balce of Tarawar. And one wonders what it does to a dog's self respect to have his master yell out the kitchen window at night, "Here Elvin Deal's Champion Green Mead's Vindicator." Because, if I was that dog I would dig me a hole under the garage and sulk and pout till somebody called me "Vindy." How would I like it if everybody called me Austen Randolph Lake all the time instead of plain "Duke," which is a name pretty commonly used in ordinary dog circles too.

The most supercilious dogs are the French poodles, the Greta Garbos of the canine aristocrats which wear their tuzz in little leg rosettes or pantalooned rushings with curl papers in their hair. Champion Carillon Cobin of Puttinove very obviously regarded itself as a better dog than the people who patted to peer were superior in the breed of humans. It was rather demeaning to find myself being stared down by dogs which plainly did not consider me in its social set and I would not like to spend my life under the austere, brown-eyed scrutiny of Champ. Carillon Colin of Puttinove and feeling apologetic for not having more purple in my veins.

It is more healthful to one's libido to visit the insect dog exhibit on the stage of the central hall which overlooks the fenced-off and carpeted squares where the exhibitors bent down to grab their mutts by the tails and yank them into studied and artificial poses to catch the eye of the judges.

The stage was reserved for the toy classes of dogs of the squib or flying size which are kept in glass jars or canary cages from which they paid back the stares of the crowd with sners and tearful resentment not unmixed with shame. A plump matron primped a Chihuahua as hairless as a delicatessen frankfurter. A man weighing 250 pounds promenade a microscopic pooch on a fishline tether. A flunky combed a shivering mite whose coat was long, moist and stringy like a spinster's switch. No human being need feel inferior to those breeds.

Nature Spreads Love

MY EXPERIENCE WITH DOGS is that they will give as good as they receive. In regard to loyalty. There are some dogs which lack character and will hop into anybody's auto and ride away if he is offered a soup bone. But loyalty is usually rewarded in proportion to leaving ownership and it places some strain on a dog's sensitivities to be sold to strangers for a lump sum and find that his loyalty is for barter and never knowing real security or when some other frilly mutt might alienate his owner's affections. Which is why many dogs leave home.

Personally I've always liked nose dogs like the diminutive Schnauzers with muzzles shaped like sieved wheat biscuits and high fasete yips which, for volume and wear on the ears, can outshout an auto siren. It is a matter of choice and a fortunate thing too that nature spreads people's love for each other and different types so that there is usually somebody to love someone else, no matter how daffy in looks and action.

For example these Salukis or Afghan hounds which look as though they were assembled from the misfit leftovers after nature finished all other breeds and didn't know what to do with the scraps—tail legged animals which show cousinship to the apes, wearing tufts on their heads like a burlesque comedian's fright wig and having a hooked tail like a Christmas tree candy cane. They tell me they are very fond of dogs with a keen sense of humor leaning toward the smoke-room sort.

Then there are those Irish dogs like the water Spaniels with shaggy ears and eyes of anxious inquiry like the hooded women of West Cork; the perky terriers with brindle coats and voicing offers to lick any mutt in the house; and the kindly Kerry Blues with fur like peatbogs, and the setters with their cinnamon gloss and the greyhounds which form the figure for the Irish sex pence. And those undershot bull dogs, looking like they could headlong against a fireplug and are in need of attention by an orthodontist. . . . and the dachshunds shaped like mud scrapers. . . . and the lamblike Bedlington, with powder puff foreheads. . . . and the Norwegian elkounds and their corkscrew tails. . . . and strange sounding breeds like the Schipperkes, Basenjis, Bards and Basset hounds. I wish I could have found at least one pooch named Duke.

2 Bruins Linked With 'Fixer' Betting Against Own Team

DETROIT, Feb. 24 (INS) —The Detroit Times reported in copyright story today that an ex-bank robber returned to prison Fri day night for parole violation had booked bets for at least two National League hockey players who gambled on games in which they played.

The newspaper reported that information gathered by the Detroit police department showed in all two members of the Boston Bruins and one player on the New York Rangers' squad were involved. One player is reputed to have bet $530 against his own team.

Arrested was James Tamer, a parolee from the Southern Michigan State Prison at Jackson, who was mysteriously hustled back to the institution within two hours after his arrest in a downtown cafe by Detroit police Friday night.

The two bets were said to have been made while Tamer was on parole from a $55,000 Flint, Mich., bank robbery. None of the players involved in the investigation were connected with the Detroit Red Wings.

Names of the three National Hockey League players have not yet been revealed.

The hockey player gambling came to light by accident in the police department's dogged investigation of Tamer, who apparently had graduated to No. 1 local boss of a nation-wide gambling syndicate.

From apparent poverty as a parolee, Tamer suddenly bounced into wealth, bought a $25,000 home, frequented the best night clubs, traveled extensively and lived at a $30,000-a-year clip. The Times related this account of the police information uncovered a member of the Bruins as a gambler-player.

The player contacted Tamer in Detroit. He told Tamer that the Bruins were weakened by mishaps. One player had banged his head against the iron goal posts and would not play that night. Another player had a very sick baby and might be out of the game. The Boston player was further quoted as saying: "We are going to 'blow' the game." However, the Bruins won 4 to 2.

The warrant for the arrest of Tamer as a parole violator was not specific. Parole officers said he was a "delinquent."

However, the Times said Tamer also was known to have traveled with other parolees, another violation of rules for convicts returning to society.

Weston Adams 'Amazed', Selke Skeptical

Weston Adams, president and owner of the Boston Bruins, was "amazed" and "shocked" when informed today by the Boston Evening American that two of his hockey players were allegedly involved in betting against their own team, as revealed by the Detroit Times.

"It's all news to me," declared Adams. "I'll contact Clapper (Coach Dit Clapper) today and find out what it's all about."

"My first reaction to this story is to disbelieve any part of it," Adams continued. "I've been connected with hockey too long, and I know the boys too well to say anything against any one of them."

"That fellow (Ed. note: James Tamer) is probably just a tin-horn gambler, as his past record seems to bear out. He's trying to get a lot of other fellows in trouble with him," concluded Adams. "This guy could say a lot of things in his position." In Montreal, Frank J. Selke, general manager of the Canadiens and a veteran of 30 years in the National Hockey League, had not received word of the story.

Selke raged: "I don't believe they have any of these fellows involved. They play too hard."

"I think he (James Tamer) is just a rotten fellow. There are no characters in hockey today like Pratt. I doubt if he (again Tamer) could get to anybody in the National Hockey League today."

The Canadiens' leaders had reference to Walter "Bub" Pratt, defenseman on the Toronto Maple Leafs who was expelled from the NHL two years ago for betting on games. Pratt, a 212-pound star, was reinstated several weeks later although forced to pay a $1000 fine.

In Pratt's case, however, he admitted that he bet on games but that he had bet on his own team, not against them.

The Bruins lost to Rangers, 4-1, in New York Sunday night and today were en route to Toronto for a game with the Maple Leafs tomorrow night. They meet the Blackhawks in Chicago next Sunday before returning to Boston.

Track Parking; Generous Ted; Olympic Tour

By JACK CONWAY

THE EXPOSE in this column of the deplorable conditions existing in the auto parking lots at Suffolk Downs and at other New England race tracks brought a quick response from racegoers and from disabled war veterans.

JUDGE PAPPAS

Persons who attend the races and who make the trips to the track by auto were unanimous in declaring they were dissatisfied with present conditions.

"I go to Suffolk Downs every day there is racing there," writes Frank Collins of Dorchester. "The only way I can assure myself of getting a good parking place each day is to make a contact with one of the attendants.

"When I leave my car, I feel it is not given much attention, and if I happen to have a flat tire after dropping a bet on the eighth race it is just another bad break for me.

"I liked your suggestions about a closed in parking area with disabled veterans in snappy blue and gold uniforms caring for the cars, calling a mobile unit if a flat has to be fixed or if there is some other trouble with an auto that can be adjusted.

"I particularly liked your suggestion that disabled veterans be given these parking lot jobs at good wages. It has been a disgrace the way the race tracks have got away with paying meager wages to persons employed in their parking lots. I do not criticize these underpaid persons for accepting all the gratuities they can get. It is human nature for persons who do not get a living wage to try and make both ends meet in some other way.

"If Suffolk Downs were to place disabled veterans on the job and pay them the kind of money they are worth, the parking evil would end. I also favor your idea of charging a small fee of 25 cents to each parker to make certain the veterans get proper compensation."

War Veterans In Favor of Parking Plan

WAR VETERANS, who have received little consideration from race tracks and from many other groups since victory was gained, were jubilant over the prospects of getting jobs at decent wages in the parking lots of Suffolk Downs and other New England race tracks.

In a recent round table discussion on racing, President Allan Wilson and Judge John Pappas of Suffolk Downs outlined many improvements they planned for the racing and mutual betting end of their business. I am anxious to find out what they think of my suggestions for better parking with jobs for disabled veterans.

I have visited tracks like Santa Anita, Hialeah Park and Monmouth Park. These tracks have excellent parking areas with well paid attendants conducting everything in an orderly manner. It would be well for representatives of our New England horse and dog tracks to visit these places, and make a study of how well parking lots can be conducted.

There is no reason why parking lots cannot be operated with the same efficiency that is usually shown in the running of a $50,000 handicap.

Ted Williams Buys $370 Worth of Perfume

I HAVE READ stories by some of the young men of the press which have attacked Ted Williams for certain alleged faults. I have yet to read a story saying the super Red Sox slugger hoards his money, and is not generous to his friends.

When Ted came to Boston recently to visit Mrs. Williams and see their baby, he dropped in at Jimmy O'Keefe's restaurant for luncheon. On leaving the place, he visited a nearby drug store and purchased a $70 bottle of perfume for Mrs. Williams and bought $300 worth more of perfumes as gifts for nurses and hospital attendants at the Richardson House where his baby was born.

Before leaving the store, Ted decided to make a small purchase and gave the girl clerk a $5 bill. The girl asked Ted to autograph the bill which he did, and she now has it.

When the Red Sox were in the World's Series against the Cardinals and there was a wild scramble for tickets, Ted gave away his allotment of tickets to youngsters and police officers in the Kenmore sq. area.

Golfers to Have Pre-Olympic Games Tour

BILL and RAY McCARTHY, who book football games at Fenway Park, are going to conduct a tour for 150 persons to the Olympic games in London next summer. There will be 50 golfers, most of whom are members of the New York A. C., in the group. It is planned for the golfers to play at Gleneagles and at St. Andrews before going to London for the Olympics. While in Boston, the McCarthy brothers stated they will have a few vacancies for their tour.

58 Baroudi, Manager Lied About Age

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, TUESDAY, FEB. 24, 1948

(Special to Boston Evening American)
CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—The ill-fated Sam Baroudi should not have been permitted to face the punishing Ezzard Charles in those 10 brutal, fatal rounds in the Stadium last Friday night. Because of his age, 20, the dead boxer shouldn't have been permitted to box more than six rounds in this state—under the provision of one of the Illinois boxing commission's own rules.

The laxity of the commission in this tragic incident has come to light with admission by members themselves that there is a rule restricting boxers who are not yet 21 from fighting more than the six-round distance.

The commission today asserted that Baroudi himself and his now discredited manager, Mike Spinelli, swore before members of the board some weeks ago that the boxer was 22.

Be that as it may, the commission's laxity in making certain of the Akron light heavyweight's real age leaves it open to the severest criticism in the wake of this most revolting stigma in the history of boxing in this state.

Numerous other boxers have been allowed to appear in distance fights here despite the provisions of Rule 44.

On the very same card with the Charles-Baroudi bout was a case in point—Eddie Marotta, the Cleveland junior lightweight.

Marotta is only 19, yet he has been okayed for eight-round contests here three times within the past two months. On last Friday's show, he went this route against Gene Spenser and outpointed the East Chicago veteran.

The board's gross negligence on the vital question of a boxer's age is further accentuated by the fact that it has failed, for many months, to make available a copy of its own rules.

In reply to queries for copies, the commission has said that it was in the process of "revising" certain rules, and that the new edition had not yet been placed in the hands of printers.

One prominent boxing figure in Chicago bitterly assailed the commission today for its lack of vigilance bearing on under-age boxers who are permitted to fight older, mature opponents. He said:

"A thing like this is inexcusable and the commission is certainly at fault. Why don't the commissioners demand proof from a boxer of his actual age, a birth certificate?"

"Why take the supposedly sworn testimony of a manager or a fighter that the fighter is over 21. Doesn't the commission realize that many unscrupulous managers, reaching like leeches to share in a big purse available for their boy, will deliberately lie about his age?"

"Surely, the commission must know the extent of the agency to which many managers will go to obtain bouts and the blood money their boy will bring to them."

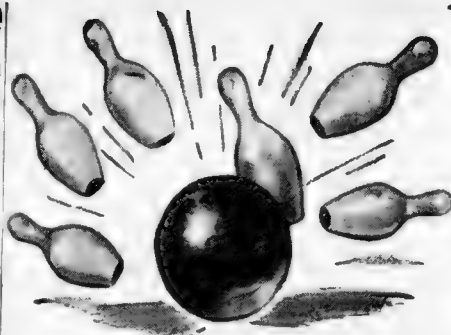

It should be simple enough to make every boxer whose age is known to be in the borderline area of 20 or 21 bring in a birth certificate. That would be complete assurance that he is eligible or ineligible, to box under terms of this rule.

The Illinois commission, in its meeting yesterday, notified Spinelli that he must appear before the board at its next session, on March 8, to explain why he falsified Baroudi's age.

Confirmation of the ill-fated boxer's age was obtained by the boxing board from an undertaking parlor in Akron, where funeral rites were held.

The commission is conforming with legal precedent in granting Spinelli a 10-day notice that he is subject to appearance.

In New York city, the discredited manager was quoted as saying today that he was withdrawing from the boxing game.

Boxing Needs 'Judge Landis' With Absolute Authority

By ROGER TREAT

Special to Boston Evening American

CHICAGO, Feb. 24—"Boxing and politics can't mix. There can be no satisfactory control of fighting until political commissions are gone. If baseball needs a czar with absolute authority, boxing needs one with even more than that."

Jack Hurley, matchmaker for the Chicago Stadium, a man with 30 years experience as trainer, manager, matchmaker, and promoter gave this answer to the Chicago Herald-American.

He called it the best solution to the problems which are kicking boxing lower in public esteem as ring deaths pile up, mismatches increase, and undesirables continue to dominate the ring game.

Hurley refused to discuss specific managers.

It could be pointed out, however, that of the eight champion boxers, at least two are controlled by gambling outfits and is led by a combination of a salesman, ex-headwaiter, and mob guy. Another has a former amateur manager who has little to say about his star's affairs. Only two champions have managers who can be called qualified.

"These commissions do the best they can," Hurley continued, "but, even if they do show an interest, what chance have they got?"

"As soon as a new governor goes in, out they go and in comes another group which has to learn from the beginning."

Hurley pointed out most of the old-time managers, who know how to educate and train a young boxer, are on the sidelines today, shoved aside by brash "Johnny-come-latelies" who know nothing about boxing as an art or sport.

Bill McCarney, Sam Goldman, Dan Morgan, Scotty Monteith, Jim Bronson, and Tom Walsh are virtually inactive while a new list of incompetents reap the harvest of fast money, large purses, and weak commissions.

"A manager can't be a manager unless he serves five years apprenticeship under an experienced man," Hurley said. "I wonder what business or sport could be expected to survive if they took me, for example, who knows nothing but boxing, and made me chairman of their board."

"All a man has to do now to be a manager is to pay the fee which each state asks and he is a manager. He is in charge of a boy's health, his bank-roll, and his luxury."

Hurley first became prominent as the manager of the great Fargo Express, Billy Petrolle,

PILOT OF DEAD BOXER FACES SUSPENSION

CHICAGO, Feb. 24 (AP)—Inquiries into the ring death of Sam Baroudi and events leading up to his fatal fight with Cincinnati's Ezzard Charles may bring suspension in Illinois of Mike Spinelli as a boxing manager.

The Illinois State Athletic Commission has ordered Spinelli to appear March 8 to show cause why he should not be suspended in connection with the 26-year-old Akron, O., Negro's death last Saturday.

The Commission said Baroudi's manager—a New York textile trucker—falsified the age of his fighter as 21. A fighter under 21 is ineligible to compete in bouts of more than six rounds under the Illinois code.

Baroudi was knocked out in the 10th and final round by Charles in their bout at the Chicago Stadium Friday night. He died six hours later of cerebral hemorrhage.

Sierra Faces Pep Without Weight Worry

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24 (INS)

Willie Pep will lay his featherweight boxing title on the chopping block tonight for the sixth time when he takes on a determined but slightly underdog challenger, Humberto Sierra, in Miami's Orange Bowl.

The champ is a mere 2-to-1 betting choice to retain his crown in the 15-round engagement.

The challenger's serious training forced the odds down over last week's 3-to-1 listing around the local bookmaking parlor.

Sierra backers recalled that the wiry Cuban gave Pep a vigorous workout before the champion finally outboxed him in their only previous meeting—a 10-round, non-title go in Hartford, Ct., Pep's home town.

Since that match, Sierra has shouldered local and hard-fought challenges with the least shake.

Pep, his boxing show expected to draw a record turnout for a Miami fight card, also continues a 10-round, heavyweight bout Tuesday at the Longing European champion from Sweden, and Walter Haler, former Marine Corps titlist from Washington, D. C., in the semi-final.

'FLYING DUTCHMAN'S' 74TH BIRTHDAY

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 24 (AP)—Honus Wagner, the man who couldn't quit baseball, celebrated his 74th birthday by carving an 18-pound turkey and preparing for his 37th year in the National League.

Close friends of one of the game's greatest shortstops joined him in feasting on the big fowl presented by a Wagner admirer of 50 years standing—oil millionaire Mike Benedum. Then the "Flying Dutchman," who batted an average of .329 over 21 big league years, finished packing his luggage for a trip to the Hollywood, Cal., training grounds of the Pittsburgh Pirates. At the movie capital, the barrel-chested Bue coach will continue the job of tutoring youngsters he began in 1932.

Restless at 58, after a 15-year layoff from the diamond, he returned to the Pirates that year to ask for any job that would keep him in his beloved game. He was promptly assigned as coach.

H. C. Five Seeks 13th Straight Win⁶¹

The Holy Cross Crusaders will meet some rugged competition in Loyola of Chicago tonight when they seek their 13th consecutive basketball victory. A dangerous but frequently unlucky and unpredictable Harvard five will oppose Penn in an Eastern Intercollegiate League affair in the second game of a doubleheader at Boston Arena where all 7200 seats are reported sold.

The Loyola team, composed of sophomores, has won 23 games while losing eight. Its attack is built around Jack Kerris, husky six feet, six inches tall center. An accurate hook shot either right handed or left handed, Kerris also is described as strong under the backboards and a good play-maker.

Kerris should provide strong opposition to George Kaftan, great Holy Cross center, who is second only to Bob Cousy among Crusader scorers.

Cousy hasn't practiced since last Friday because of a heavy cold but is expected to be able to play to night. However, Holy Cross probably will not have Dermie O'Connell available because of a cut knee.

The Crusaders will need all possible strength to turn back Loyola, who recently downed Duquesne by 19 points, 60-49, on the Dukes' home floor.

Harvard has been at its strongest against Ivy competition, having handed Princeton its first Eastern League defeat, and lost

'Cards to Beat' -- Southworth

ED. NOTE: As Billy Southworth prepared to shove off from his Sunbury, Ohio home for the Braves training camp at Bradenton, Florida, he expressed a few opinions concerning the National League race in general and his own team in particular. His thoughts were expressed during the course of a phone conversation with General Manager John Quinn of the Braves. In summary they would look somewhat as follows:

By BILLY SOUTHWORTH
Manager of Boston Braves

The Cardinals look like the club to beat, but the championship club (Brooklyn) must first be dethroned. The Cards have pitching and everything else needed to win the championship. If the Giants can get additional pitching strength they will be in the thick of it.

Brooklyn is good enough to win again. Last year everyone called them lucky, but how can you call a team lucky in a 154-game season. Some of the managers are saying that Boston can be a tough ball club. This could be if some of our men come through. The overall picture of the Braves this year is brighter at this time than in either 1946 or 1947. Other clubs have added strength, therefore, it is necessary that our club would have to be stronger in order to finish as high in 1948 as we did in '47.

EARL TORGESON—Torgy can be one of the outstanding stars of the year. He has speed, power, and has improved wonderfully in the field. With one year of experience under his belt he might come awfully fast to be not only one of the outstanding first basemen in the league, but one of the outstanding players.

IFS IN PITCHING DEPARTMENT—We have ifs in the pitching department, but if the new pitchers, plus Ernie White can help us, we can make it rough for the other seven teams.

We do not expect White to be a starting pitcher, but he can be a definite help to us in a relief role, along with Prendergast and Shoun. Hogue, Bickford, Prendergast and Lyons will be given the opportunity to start. Those who do not reach that objective as starters can be equally as valuable in relief roles. It is my hope that we will be able to select two from the remaining 13 pitchers, as Voiselle, Barrett, Spahn and Sain have the inside track as starting pitchers.

BETTER HURLERS THAN IN '46, '47—The pitching is absolutely better than in my previous two seasons in quantity, quality and age, as is the case with the catchers. The addition of Kerr and Salkeld gives me two good men to back up Phil Masi, with Kerr hitting right and Salkeld left. Freddie Fitzsimmons will be in charge of the battemmen.

FIRST BASE—We are very well equipped at this position. I recently saw Ray Sanders in St. Louis and he looked better than ever. He has been exercising, has taken on weight and believes he is O. K. as does his doctor. We are very wealthy in first basemen if Torgy can play it both against right and left hand pitching. This would give us Sanders and Frank McCormick as pinch-hitters. It will be very interesting to watch the duel at first base as Ray will be striving for a regular spot, and both he and Torgy have fine competitive spirit. We will always have Frank McCormick ready to step in if necessary.

SECOND BASE—For the past two years Bama Rowell has been pursuing me for an opportunity to be given a chance at second base. With Heath in left field, he will be given an opportunity to prove himself at this position along with Connie Ryan.

SHORTSTOP—The battle between Sisti, Culler and Dark should be interesting to watch, and it is one which will have great importance as to the fulfillment of that position.

THIRD BASE—There is not much question as to whom this job belongs—Bob Elliott, yet in dividing the squad into teams during spring training Fernandez will occupy the hot corner on one team.

LEFT FIELD—Heath will be given a chance to play against both right and left hand pitching during spring training. If he does the job well he will be in all the time. Litwiler is looking forward to a letter which I had from him in which he stated that he will report in his best physical condition and is determined to establish himself in the hearts of Boston fans as he was in 1946.

CENTER FIELD—This job is open to Jim Russell, Mike Alcorn and Clint Conatser. From year to year while Russell was with the Pirates, writers would make predictions about him coming into greatness. Living in nearby Fayette City, Pa., may have hurt him in my opinion. I believe that this could have been more of a handicap to his daily play than any one item. I am highly hopeful that this boy will come through and justify the predictions of Pittsburgh scribes in being one of the outstanding players in the National League in 1948. We all know what Mike McCormick can do. He had a good year in 1947. Conatser is highly recommended by our Chief Scout, Jack Zeller, and it has been predicted by other capable baseball men that he will have a brilliant career. Possessing a good arm, he is a good fielder, a fine runner, and will be given every chance to prove his worth.

RIGHT FIELD—Tommy Holmes, who in 1947 collected more hits than any other player in the National League, and just about led the league in fielding, will have the call for this berth.

NYU Win String Given Severe Test But Stays Intact

By the Associated Press
New York University's unbroken victory string took a terrific bending at the hands of St. John's of Brooklyn last night—but it held.

NYU beat its inter-borough rival, 59 to 54, to remain the only unbeaten team in college basketball. The victory was No. 18.

Elsewhere, leading Michigan and pursuing Wisconsin maintained their fast pace with victories in the Big Nine Conference. In a couple of upsets, Yale topped Princeton, 65 to 53, and Colorado downed Missouri, 56 to 48, to sidetrack those teams' title bids in their respective conferences.

Activity was fairly heavy on the college front—for a Monday night—but other games packed little significance as most of the conference crowns and invitational tournament bids are settled.

Playing before a capacity crowd of 18,485 at New York's Madison Square Garden, NYU's Violets experienced quite a scare.

They jumped off to a sizable lead, saw it dwindle shortly after opening of the second half and then even fell behind a rallying St. John's team. St. John's led, 34-33 and 36-35, before the Violets, paced by Adolph Schayes, pulled away to stay there.

Michigan, leading the Big Nine, hurdled a tough obstacle in beating Purdue, 46 to 35. It was the eighth victory in the league in ten starts.

But Wisconsin, No. 3 in the standings, won its seventh game in 11 starts, repelling Northwestern, 59 to 54.

Princeton's loss to Yale dampened its hopes of any Ivy League championship.

Pet Torture Foes Storm State House

Seeks Aid—Murph is just a lost dog at the Animal Rescue League . . . but he has hopes of being returned to his master. Under proposed Nolen-Miles bill, which has public hearing today in the State House, Murph would be turned over to vivisectionists. He scans letter, sent out by league, requesting aid to defeat passage of the bill. Hundreds of dog-lovers flocked to the hearing to file their protests.

Prays for Tiny Victim—An unidentified bystander kneels before the broken body of 5-year-old Wesley Leske in a Montrose, Cal., street and prays for the child who was killed when car, driven by his father, overturned. A moment later the bespectacled man lost himself in the crowd. The boy's father was not seriously injured in the accident.
